Bradshaw, THE BUICK MAN

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society will have a desire exchange December 8th, 10-17-18.

There will be a pie supper at Marksbury School house next Saturday night, Oct. 27th. Everybody cordially invited. Benefit Library.

In England 5,000,000 women are working, most of them filling men's places who are in the trenches. Here is an object lesson of what women can do.

Corn meal, even at the present unprecedented prices, is the cheapest food, nutritive values considered, found in a government survey of 50 food staples.

America is just beginning the harvest of her greatest corn crop—greater by 123,000,000 bushels than any previous crop in our history and greater by 665,000,000 bushels than the crop of 1916.

Tobacco growers this year will not sell their crops to speculators as has been frequently the custom in the past. The grower should make the total profit rather than giving a part of his earnings to speculators. The only way to get full value for your crop is to sell it on the home leaf market. Best judges of conditions say that tobacco will be very high this season—the highest in years.

To write or not to write—after Nov. 2—that is the question. Whether it is nobler in the mind to restrain the 2-cent epistolary habit or more patriotic in the conscience to write more often than usual—lof 3 cents. For every cent buys a fifth of a bullet. Remember that. A cartridge costs approximately 5 cents. And a strip of gauze for a bandage somewhat less. Thus we can all do our further bit.

There will be a Pie Supper at the old Fellows Hall at Cartersville, Thursday night, November 1st. Everybody invited.

There could be no more patriotic work for women at this time than to assist the government in the conservation of food.

LOST between Lancaster and Camp Dick Robinson, Wednesday, a black hand pocket book with about five dollars and some other little things. Reward if returned to Mrs. Jim Hatcher.

It is well for the people to know that the national rules of the Red Cross Society do not permit of entertainment given under the name of the Red Cross or for its benefit without the permission of the directors of the local chapter. If you want to make money for the local Red Cross permission must be asked the local management.

Miss Tommie Francis has been made chairman of the pledge card campaign in Garrard County and earnestly asks the help and cooperation of all the women. No fees, no dues, merely a promise to help feed this and other nations by economizing and selling what you save at the highest market price. Save—is now the woman's motto.

Mr. Geoffrey Morgan, State Agricultural Agent, has just returned from a trip through Northeastern Kentucky. He reports great damage done to the tobacco crop by the freeze of last week. In some sections he said at least twenty per cent of the crop was still in the field and was practically ruined, while much in the barn had been damaged badly. He visited Mason, Bracken, Robertson, and Fleming counties, and reports great damage wrought in all these counties, which are unusually heavy producers of the weed.

WHO CAN BEAT IT.

Mr. Clyde Withers, one of Garrard's best farmers brought us a pumpkin weighing 55 pounds. It looks large enough to make pumpkin pies for all the Allies.

BIBLES FOR VOLUNTEERS.

Mr. Walton Moss asks us to state that those wishing Bibles for soldier boys will please let him know, giving name and address or else get them and send direct to the Garrard boy.

FIRST SNOW FALL.

The first real winter day was last Tuesday. We had quite a snow storm and by night enough was on the ground to warrant the kiddies desire to hang up their stockings. It was difficult to realize it wasn't December.

MORE FARMS SELL.

J. I. Hamilton bought the farm of Meadows Bros. containing 100 acres for $62.50 an acre and resold it two days later to Robt Ward for $65, who in turn, sold it to J. M. Broadbush for $70, and has refused $75. Mr. Mark Gosnell his place of 26 acres to Green Estes for $5,000 and his shop and 2 acres and shop to Ivy Porter for $1,500. Mr. Toins then bought the farm of 50 acres to J. T. Henry for $125 an acre.

MEETING CONTINUES.

The series of meetings which began at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning under such favorable conditions is drawing good audiences and much interest is being developed.

The sermons of Dr. Arnold are very impressive and instructive and under his able leadership the meetings promise to be one of the best ever held in the city. The music at this meeting is especially good, being in charge of Mr. Rolla Stebbins, who has a magnificent baritone voice and a leader of exceptional ability.

A VERY BUSY OFFICE.

One of the busiest offices in this part of the state just now is our local post office and postmaster Brown is not letting grass grow under his feet so busy has he been.

The "powers that be" at Washington have recently made his office a "Central Accounting Office" placing under his supervision all the offices in the county, a total of nine. These offices are furnished their supplies thru the main office here and it adds much work to this office, but no more pay. Mr. Brown is equal to the occasion and is making one of the best postmasters in the state.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

Mr. A. D. Bradshaw who recently purchased the Rex Garage sold last week his holdings there to Kinnaid Brothers, proprietors of the Arcade Garage. The business of Kinnaid Brothers during the past six months has so materially increased they were compelled to seek larger quarters and overtures were made to Mr. Bradshaw and the trade consummated a few days ago. The Arcade garage will be closed for the present. Mr. Bradshaw will continue to have his headquarters at the Rex garage, where he still retains the exclusive agency for the Buick automobiles.

Kinnaid Brothers are now prepared to serve their customers upon the shortest notice, the place being open day and night.

BIG COURT DAY CROWD.

An unusually large crowd was on hand last Monday, it being the regular county court day. The town was crowded with mules and other stock all of which sold well. The cattle pens were filled and this class of stock was well cleaned up. A great many mule colts remained unsold on account of no buyers. Aged mules were in demand and several changed hands. A few of the sales were as follows: W. V. Gastineau, bought three of L. K. Perkins for $125, and one of Hiram Ray for $140. Charlie Deano bought a nice one of Mr. Warren for $175, and sold it for $10 advance to W. L. Burton.

H. C. Sutton sold a dandy team to Monte Fox for $150. Mr. Fox also bought one of the Naylor for $225. W. B. Burton sold a car load of mules and horses to Herbert Ellis, of Wilson, N. C., at an average of $185. to $250. T. C. Rankin bought a team of mules at Baughman's sale for $230; one of W. H. Brown for $175, and one of Charlie Dean for $200. Paul Finch bought one of Wila Rogers for $180; Frank Robinson a team of Robert Rankin for $367, and a bay mare of Rufus Sama for $75. Mr. Shelby Harbison, of Lexington bought a few army mules during the day, averaging from $150. to $185. Jim Sander sold two mule colts to Robert Shearer for $170.

MEETING CLOSES.

The meeting at the Methodist Church close! Sunday night. There were nine additions to the church. Many were helped by the services. Rev. Robert Lear, who did most of the preaching, left on the 11 o'clock train Monday morning for Fleming county, where he was to begin a meeting that night. His faithful work will be long remembered by many.

FOOD CONSERVATION CAMPAIGN.

During the week Oct. 28 to Nov. 1, an active house to house canvass of every home in the county will be made soliciting the housekeepers to sign the Food Pledge Card. This week is to be known as Food Conservation Week and is being carried out under the direction of Herbert Hoover of the U. S. Food Administration. In this county the work will be done under the direction of Miss Tommie Francis assisted by the Red Cross of Lancaster, Hyantsville and Paint Lick and the Woman's Club of Lancaster. This is a patriotic and worthy work and every assistance and encouragement should be given Miss Francis and her corps of workers. Our allies are depending upon us for food and with a little self denial upon our part we can supply them. One pound of wheat flour saved each week per person means 150,000,000 bushels for the allies. Give the Food Workers careful consideration sign the pledge card and then live up to it.

BURLESON GIVES RATES FOR MAIL.

Letters, Except For Local Delivery, Require Three-Cent Postage, Postal Cards Two, After Nov. 2nd.

Detailed instructions to postmasters on the increased letter mail rates which became effective Nov. 2nd, under the terms of the War Tax Bill, were issued recently by Postmaster General Burleson. They do not apply to mail to most foreign countries, which are fixed by international treaties, but they do apply to all domestic mail and under that classification is included mail to Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the United States postal agency at Shanghai and all persons in the military service of the United States in Europe. The Postoffice Department issued these instructions:

"Postmasters shall, on and after November 2nd, see that postage is paid at the rate of three cents an ounce or fraction thereof on letters and other first class matter except drop letters. All drop letters, that is, letters mailed for delivery from the office at which posted, including those for delivery by city, rural or other carrier of such office, are required to have postage on them at the rate of two cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards are required to be prepaid two cents and the one-cent postal cards must have a one-cent postage stamp affixed on them in addition to one cent stamp impressed on such cards. Postcards (private mailing cards) bearing written messages must have two cents postage prepaid on them."

LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE

Under Good Headway And Much Interest Shown.

If the full quota of the Liberty Loan allotted to Garrard county is not oversubscribed it will not be the fault of the committees in charge, over which Mr. H. F. Hudson is the chairman.

The meeting called at the court house last Friday night in the interest of the Second Liberty Loan brought out a good audience, among them the influential citizens of the town and county. The meeting was called to order by Mr. B. F. Hudson, as chairman and who so successfully, through his support and untiring efforts, saw that Garrard county oversubscribed the first Liberty Loan. He told of the object of the meeting and the importance of the Second Liberty Loan, impressing upon the audience that nothing should be left undone to see that this loan is oversubscribed.

Patriotic speeches were made by Messrs L. L. Walker, W. A. Farnan, P. M. Tindler, S. D. Cochran, J. E. Robinson and Mrs. George Robinson, the latter being the chairman on the Woman's committee of the Liberty Loan. Committees were then named and many volunteered their services and the use of their cars for Wednesday when the drive through the county in the shape of a house to house canvass would be made. The banks of the county have agreed to close during that day, as well as all the stores and business houses in the city. They are to meet at the Citizens Bank at eight o'clock from which place the start will be made.

WHY THAT LAME BACK?

That morning lameness--those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back--look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Lancaster resident's example.

Chris Hutchison, carpenter, Crab Orchard St., Lancaster, says: "My kidneys were in bad shape and I had a constant pain over my right kidney. As my work calls for a great deal of stooping, my back ached severely. My kidneys were too frequent in action at times and then again sluggish. The kidney secretions contained sediment. Down's Kidney Pills, from Stormes' Drug Store, soon rid me of the back-ache and regulated the action of my kidneys. I am glad to recommend Down's Kidney Pills, for I know they are a good kidney medicine."

Coming Across

By Ezra Weed of the Vigilantes.

"Can you lend me fifty dollars?" says my Uncle Sam to me.

"Well, Uncle, I don't know," I says. "I'll have to go and see."

"You'll have to go and see?" he says, sarcastical and dry.

"Now, son, you listen here," he says, "I'll give it to you straight; I know you're in a hurry. Better let the hurry wait."

"There's things I'm going to tell you, or try to anyhow. If you never done much thinkin' you better do some now."

"I brought you up in freedom. I allowed you'd have the run Of the fairest, finest country that ever got the run."

"I gave you school and readin' as much as you could learn, And never asked an hour of your service in return."

"You had it soft and easy; you didn't have to fight; And you looked on peace and plenty as if they was your right."

"I took a chance to raise you, I said, 'he won't forget. Some day he'll do me credit.' And this is what I get."

"I ask a little favor that you can do for me, So small I hate to ask it, and, You've got to go and see!"

"I've strove with men and angels for the honor of our name, To make it stand for something and keep it clean of shame."

"I always planned to give you a country and a flag You could call as good as any and you wouldn't have to brag."

"If you figure so to keep them, I only know one plan That'll stand all kinds of acid, and that's to be a man."

"So you better think it over and show what you can do; I can use about a billion. So long. It's up to you."

Now I guess, unless I'm willing to be charged up as a loafer And thrown into the discard, I'll have to come across.

LIBERTY BONDS AS CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The sale of the Second Liberty Loan Bond issue at this time has been hailed in many quarters as being particularly timely. This applies especially to people who are anxious to make Christmas gifts of unusual value, because they will be able, by making small payments from time to time, to acquire Liberty Bonds before the arrival of the holiday season.

Brokers in New York are calling the attention of their clients to this opportunity. Many of their customers annually buy stocks or bonds for relatives, and this year all will be urged to buy Liberty Bonds of the later issue. By subscribing now they will be aiding the government to make a quick and splendid success of the loan. Most banks are willing to receive small deposits weekly in order to enable buyers of the bonds to pay for them in full by Christmas.

Eggs depend on whites

Grain feeds fail to give hens elements required for whites of eggs. Wheat, corn, oats, barley, kaffir-corn, faba beans, etc., contain elements to average 234 yolks and only 154 whites.

The exigency now confronting us emphasizes, as nothing else could do, the importance of good health, both as an individual and national asset.

Fayette Warehouse Announcement

In order to better take care of its customers the Fayette Tobacco Warehouse
Company has purchased the warehouse at No. 555, Broadway, known as the Broadway Tobacco Warehouse. Contracts have been let to enlarge the lights and improve the facilities that they may meet the requirement of the Fayette trade.

We have engaged as sales manager of this property which will be known as the Fayette Tobacco Warehouse Company, No. 2, Mr. S. D. Noel, one of the best judges of tobacco in Kentucky and widely and favorably known to the entire tobacco trade of the state.

The Fayette Tobacco Warehouse Company has endeavored since its organization, nine years ago, to furnish the tobacco planters of Kentucky as reliable and high-class service as could be had. Our constantly increasing trade has borne testimony to the success of our efforts.

For this coming season, with the same employees and under the same management, we shall be better prepared to take care of our customers without delay.

All the reports we have received from the Southern and Eastern markets indicate the highest burley market we have ever known.

Mr. Early Bass, our auctioneer, who is now selling at Greenville, N. C. reports tobacco selling from five to seven cents a pound higher than last season. This proportionate increase will give us a very high average here.

Because of the splendid patronage we have enjoyed in the past, and because we desire to do our "bit" we shall divide one-half the commission received from tobacco sold on our opening sale about December 1st, between the Soldiers Tobacco Fund and the Local Chapter of the Red Cross.

The Home Coming Game will be the star attraction of the season and will be played at Danville November 3rd, against the University of Kentucky. They will play Transylvania at Lexington on November 24th and the Thanksgiving game will be pulled off at Danville on November 29th against Georgetown.

We predict a good crowd from Lancaster will see these games.

RESOLUTIONS.

At a called meeting of the directors of the Citizens National Bank of Lancaster, Kentucky, held on the 20th day of October 1917, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas T. M. Arnold died on the 14 day of October 1917, be it resolved by the officers and directors of this bank: That we desire to express our testimony as to the long, useful and honorable service of our deceased member, who has been a director in this bank from the time of its organization in 1883.

We express our profound and sincere sympathy to his family, and trust that they may find consolation in God's care.

Be it further resolved; that these resolutions be spread at large upon the minutes of this bank, be published in the Central Record, and a copy furnished to the family of the deceased.

FISHERMEN RETURN.

One of the most delightful fishing trips ever had was when six members of the Rockcastle Fishing Club had their annual outing near the mouth of Rockcastle river at the hospitable home of Mrs. Charity Poyner. The water and the weather were ideal, but the fish for the first few days seemed to have been on a diet, but their appetites recovered toward the latter part of the week and some splendid catches were made. Mr. J. A. Beasley was the one out the champion having landed and brought home a salmon that weighed exactly 13 pounds after its arrival in Lancaster. Judge Friable landed the champion bass of the week, being the small mouth variety and tipping the scales at five pounds. John Farra let a good one get away and the fish that Bob Elkin hooked wouldn't hold on to its end of the line. Sausley Hughes handles the rod like an expert, but a two pound bass was about his limit.

Mr. Carl Engelhardt, of Louisville, was a pleasant and genial member of the party and while an expert fisherman and can handle the rod with the dexterity of Isaac Walton himself, he too failed to land any "cowa", yet he kept the party well supplied with smaller ones that furnished abundance of food for the inner man during the entire stay. Altogether it was the most delightful trip ever. We are due at "Aunt Charity's" again next October.

CECIL

Mrs. Helen Cecil, wife of Mr. T. E. Cecil, died Monday morning after a lingering illness of tuberculosis and was buried Tuesday afternoon at Goshen, the services being conducted by Rev. H. S. Hudson.

She was a devout member of the Presbyterian church. Her death is particularly sad and pathetic from the fact she left seven children just at the age they most needed a mother's watch care and love. Because of this fact and because of her spirituality and goodness a universal regret is felt that her pure young life ended so soon. Besides her husband and children she leaves three brothers, Messrs John, Ben and Will Oakes and a number of friends and relatives to mourn her loss.

MR. THOMPSON M. ARNOLD.

Surrounded by those he loved, trusting in the All Father, sweetly as a tired child, the soul of this good friend, father and husband went

"In the hush of the valley of silence
Into that fuller life—
Where no voice is heard save God's
And his own".

Fitting it was that one whose life had reached full fruition, like a ripe shock of corn should go at the Harvest Home, and what emblem of hope that even as the reapers are gathering the matured harvest, the young grain is coming to life; in all its vibrant beauty, God's type of immortality. Thus went a man of the "old school".

Craving not honors or preferment, yet if fine judgement and broad views, one to whom many came for council. Courteous, charitable in his judgements, hospitable, always glad to receive his friends, even to the last, especially tender to his old "comrades in arms". His devotion to his children, the last day of his life enquiring lovingly of his youngest son who has gone to fight for his flag. His chivalrous regard for her who went life's pathway so long with him. What a heritage to leave behind. Wrapped in his beloved "suit of gray" with the cross upon his breast. "Where the silent tents are spread" while glory guards with solemn round, he lies blazoned till the God of battles shall sound the final reveille.

All kinds of plain and fancy sewing, at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed. Mrs. F. Morgan, Richmond St, next door below Powell's store.

MORE THAN $10,000

IN LIBERTY BONDS

To Be Given Away By The Calumet Baking Powder Company.

The Calumet Baking Powder Company of Chicago are staunch supporters of the policy of liberally rewarding the efforts of their salesmen. Each year for years—they have given valuable prizes to salesmen securing the greatest volume of business.

This year they will distribute more than $10,000 in Liberty Bonds among their high record salesmen.

This is a splendid idea—a plan that is worthy of the heartiest commendation and one that should be employed by other concerns who wish to contribute to the "Nation's fighting fund".

The giving away of prizes in the form of Liberty Bonds was prompted by a spirit of loyalty to employees and patriotic duty to country. It answered the call of "conservation"—without depriving salesmen of awards to which conscientious selling endeavor is entitled. It will aid the nation in time of need and at the same time prove prizes of real worth and ones of which the Calumet salesmen will feel justly proud.

How much better this than the awarding of the usual prize "trinkets"—than the handing out of awards that benefit only the recipients.

It is a patriotic merchandising move. It is certain to stimulate the sale of Calumet Baking Powder—because housewives of America are bound to buy a product of the superior quality of Calumet Baking Powder—especially when they learn that money spent for Calumet means money saved for them and a boost to the distribution of Liberty Bonds.

It will enthrall Calumet salesmen. It will tie the spur of patriotism to the determination to excel in salesmanship and finally—it adds more proof to the often proved fact that the Calumet Baking Powder Company are ever on the alert to serve their employees—their millions of customers and the country in general in the fairest possible manner.

FOOD PLEDGE IMPORTANT FACTOR IN WINNING WAR, SACKETT

Federal Food Administrator for Kentucky Explains Reasons for Card Campaign Next Week

To the Housekeepers of Kentucky:

DURING the week beginning Sunday, October 28th, a campaign will be conducted in all parts of the United States for signatures for the Food Conservation Pledge prepared by Mr. Herbert C. Hoover, the National Food Administrator.

The canvass will be made during the week in question by the patriotic women who have joined the organization of the Food Conservation Division of the Council of Defense in each county of the State, and the object of this address of the Federal Food Administrator for Kentucky is to explain exactly what will be asked of the housekeepers of the State of Kentucky, why it is asked and what may be accomplished for our country and ourselves.

We wish to say at the outset that the campaign is city wide, state-wide and nation-wide. No sectarian or denominational lines are involved. The campaign is endorsed by the clergymen of all the churches of the state, by our leading professional and business men, by all who understand the importance of food conservation as a factor in winning the war.

Form of Pledge.

It is best to state exactly what will be asked by the canvassers of the housekeepers of Kentucky. They will be asked, first, to sign the Pledge Card of the United States Food Administration. What does that card bind the housekeeper to? Here it is, so all may judge for themselves.

To the Food Administrator:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation, and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administrator in my home, insofar as my circumstances permit.

This is the pledge and the entire pledge. There are no dues of membership. Signers will then be asked to hang in the front windows of their homes cards bearing the shield of the United States in colors attesting the fact that they are members of the organization.

What the Pledge Means.

It is wise, we think, to say a few words in regard to the pledge. It means no more and no less than it reads. It will be observed that signers of the pledge are not asked to bind themselves to any particular homes. They are not asked at this time to promise to observe meatless days or to abstain from using any particular kind of food. They simply agree to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administrator "insofar as their circumstances permit." We are aware that conditions differ in different homes; that what is only a sacrifice to one, may, under unusual circumstances, be an impossibility to another. Therefore the qualifying clause "insofar as my circumstances permit" appears in the pledge.

This qualifying clause brings the execution of the Food Administrator's advice down to the individual conscience of the housekeeper who signs the pledge. It is not expected that because of this qualification the pledge will go as nothing. It is, in fact, our hope and belief that those who sign this pledge will consider themselves units in a great army of American housekeepers who propose to serve their country and themselves by following as closely as may be possible the directions and advice of the Food Administrator, knowing as we do that those directions will be reasonable.

It seems hardly necessary for us here again to contradict the foolish rumors that have been circulated that it is the plan of the Food Administration to seize food found in private homes. No such thing was ever contemplated and will not be contemplated. Such a report is enemy propaganda purposely designed to defeat the objects of this great conservation movement.

Importance of the Work.

We feel that we can add little to what has already been said by the President, by Mr. Hoover, and by others qualified to speak on such subjects in regard to the importance of food conservation during the coming winter and yet, as a housekeeper, speaking to housekeepers, I wish to say that we understand the importance of this work and believe that the housekeepers of the state will understand it.

Our country is engaged in a great war. Our sons are going out to give, if necessary, their lives for our country. These brave boys are willing to die, if necessary, the supreme sacrifice, that American ideals may endure, that American homes may be kept safe from the hands of the enemy. All of us have work to do at this time and the work that may be done in the individual homes of America in avoiding waste and saving food may prove not the least effective move in winning the war.

Kentucky goes into the present winter in some ways well prepared. Employment is general, but prices are very high. The less that is wasted in the average household the less will have to be bought. The prices of foodstuffs offer an inducement to prudence, but unless there is conservation and co-operation, the food that is saved in one home will be wasted in another.

Real Emergency Exists.

The men who are patriotically working in Washington for the country, and in charge of this mobilization movement of our food know that a real emergency exists. The 1916 harvest left us no surplus. The 1917 harvest is in and they can count on the food that can be used for ourselves for the allied nations and for our own at the tightline front. They know that if the same prodigality in the waste of food continues in America, if the same bounteous hospitality and lavish use is maintained in our own homes, there will not be sufficient available to maintain the armies who are fighting our battles on the western front of Europe.

They do know, however, that if there begins at once a concerted movement in all American homes to eliminate all unnecessary waste, a movement to follow the advice of the Food Administrator for the substitution of some foods for others which we are short, that the cumulative effect of that movement, covering throughout the country 23,000,000 American homes, will provide during the coming winter the food that will be necessary for us to export, in order to keep the civilian populations of France and England supplied, the armies upon the battle line and the wonderful army now being prepared by the United States, in their best fighting condition.

It is a real emergency in which they appeal to us, an emergency which can be met in no other way, and they are issuing this call to the women of America to look upon this matter in all seriousness and to be assured that the sacrifices they will make during this coming winter will provide the food which the President of the United States has said is one of the three great elements necessary to winning the war.

No suggestions will be issued that are not felt by those in authority to be extremely necessary, but they do hope that the people of America will respond to these suggestions as patriots determined to do their bit for the cause of civilization throughout the world and the maintenance of democracy.

THE BEAUTIFUL GULF COAST.

The beautiful thing about the Gulf Coast, between New Orleans and Pensacola, is that it is a real playground, summer or winter—a playground for northern folk from November to May, and for Southerners during the summer months. You can't ask for much more of placid nature than has been expended on the Gulf littoral between New Orleans and Pensacola. There are pine woods, forests of live oaks, all moss hung and mysterious, long stretches of winding, shaded roads, woodland paths, quaint southern hamlets and modern resorts teeming with gaiety and active life, lovely retreats where you can lounge in a hammock all day and drowse in the narcotic air. And there is the sparkling water, the beach, the surf, boating, fishing anything and everything that calls from the salt water side.

Going south on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, after you leave Mobile, it is impossible to escape the infection of jovious living, even if you wanted to do that. At every stop throngs of people are going, and coming, youth and age alike, getting on or off the trains. Laughter and breezy, sunny, fragrant air greet you. It is moreover a place of sane, natural outdoor joys in surroundings of homely comfort or of luxurious, ease, whichever you prefer. It is a locality of ancient and honorable traditions and the natives are descended from holders of the soil since the first days of the white settlers. They make you welcome with a state's, southern hospitality, and have put at your disposal the best their home land affords. Every resort and every old plantation home is shaded by age-old ancestral oaks and grows over with trailing vines, roses and perennials; and they all look out over the gulf waters, at the dancing waves, the scudding sails, the beach and the surf. If you can't find happiness down there in the golden sunshine and among the countless diversions, and at tractions of that playground, don't go south in the winter expecting to find your "Promised Land", for you'll have only your troubles for your pains. No choicer spot exists and greater comfort is not to be found. The winter climate is ideal, not uncomfortably warm, but moderate and breezy, rattling snap and ginger into the system.

Touring along the Gulf Coast is one of the ways travelers take to find their own particular choice, and for this purpose the train service of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad is convenient. You can stop everywhere, beginning at Mobile, and stay a few hours, a few days or as long as you wish. It is a fascinating vagabondage that will bring you eventually to the place of your ultimate desire. You can, also, if you choose, skip your motor car to Mobile and go on for regular touring along the gulf, the roads are all good and the country is fascinating in the extreme. History lends its background of fact to a long list of interesting traits and old romantic legends concerning this locality, and the "atmosphere," while wholly American, has the foreign flavor in sufficient degree to give it diversity and variety. Topographically, the coast lies low and curving, rising gently toward the hinterland, which is forested with pines broken in the clearings, by rich productive farmlands. The shore line is much indented, the numerous bays, "coves," "sounds" and lakes giving a seemingly endless and all-surrounding water scene. Lying off the shore is a line of islands, forming the outer bar of the Mississippi Sound, and fronting this are the reefs that have been famous since revolutionary days. The towns which began as of the French colonies, began under the brothers de Bevilacqua and d'Iberville. Advertisement.

My Patriotism

The boy came to me for advice. I suppose because I had been his father's best friend. The boy's father had enlisted in the Spanish War and was killed fighting under Lawton in the Philippines. The boy's mother was an intelligent American woman--one of those women who believe that honor is the finest thing in the world. With the worship of her husband's patriotism and bravery in her soul, the mother had brought the boy up to be a straight thinking, straight acting youngster. I had watched the boy grow up, and I was proud of him.

When war was declared it did not take the boy long to make up his mind that he ought to enlist, and his mother agreed with him. It was a perfectly natural decision for him to make. The training that he had received from his mother, and his pride in his father's devotion to the country, made any other course seem pitifully weak to the boy, and, besides, he had a keen appreciation of the justice of the cause for which the United States is fighting. He did not ask for advice as to himself. He was perfectly clear about what he should do. But he was disturbed about his mother. Was he doing right to leave her? Knowing both the boy and the mother as I did, I knew that after they had made up their minds anything that I might say would be useless. So after I had given the boy the usual good advice he left.

After he had gone I began to think about my own position. I had never thought very seriously about patriotism, but in a general way I regarded myself as an average patriotic citizen. Since the trouble with Germany started, I had "stood by the President." I had had a good deal to say about liberty and democracy, and the necessity of crushing Prussian militarism. I had also made a number of more or less trite remarks about saving and sacrifice; had even gone so far as to decide to get along with last year's car, and I had made an "investment" in liberty bonds. But I had done nothing, nor had I contemplated doing anything that would interfere with my comfort.

But here was this youngster--just beginning to feel the zest of life, full of splendid enthusiasm for making his life worth while, willing to risk his life in order that the present generation and generations to come may live in peace and security. And here was this mother willing to chance her last hope of happiness to help preserve the honor of her country. What right had I to let this fine boy--and there is nothing finer under the sun than a clean-minded, red-blooded American boy--go through the horrors of war while I made no sacrifice of consequence? What right had I to let this mother suffer, as I knew she would suffer, all through the long days and nights that her boy was away, and not do my best to stop it?

Altogether I did not feel very well pleased with myself. I began to see that my patriotism was a good deal of an affectation. Then and there I made up my mind that I was going to make my patriotism mean something to me and to my country. My fighting days are over. I would only clutter up the trenches and get in the way of better men, but I can help supply the funds that may end this war before the boy--the boy that I love as my own son--is killed or returned home a hopeless cripple, and before the last ray of sunshine fades from the mother's heart, and I am going to do this to the utmost of my ability.

Mind Your Business

By Caspar Whitely of the Vigilantes.

"Aw, I've got my own business to do," was the reply given me the other day in a smallish up state town by the local bill poster.

"Are you an American citizen?" I asked him.

"Yes," said he.

"Pro-German?"

"No."

"Believe in our government?"

"Best in the world."

"Want to see our soldier boys win?"

"Sure."

"Want to help them win?"

"You bet."

"Then put up these posters," I fired at him, "and put them up p. d. q. for the money which comes from the sale of these bonds is used to equip for fighting the boy you and all your town folk want to see win."

Such is the spirit one meets often in the country "round--indifference, strange ignorance in a land of schools and newspapers--until the native sense of practicality is touched.

Must our fathers and sons and brothers come back to us bleeding or dead before we can be more generally awakened to an understanding that this war of civilization against the barbarism of the Germans is our war? That it is for our safety, our freedom that our boys have gone to fight--a safety we have enjoyed these last three years in the shelter of the great English fleet and the valor and strength of the French and British armies.

That is why you must support the government and buy these bonds; that is why the government's business is your business, the business of every man and woman worthy to enjoy the blessings of this great republic.

Avoid This Bad Habit.

The habit of exaggeration is one of the hardest to correct. The girl who falls into the way of overemphasizing every statement, find the plain truth very tame indeed. And she little guesses how tiresome her exaggerated statements become to her listeners. Watch your speech for signs of this fault so prevalent in the speech of modern girls.

There will be quite a number of changes in our town soon. Dr. F. H. Smith has bought Mr. Antrac's Riddell's property. Mr. Riddell has purchased the business of Mr. Ed Williams, and Mr. Williams has bought the property of Anthony Jett. All are to give possession January 1st.

Mr. Harry McWhorter and Miss Bernice Morse, of Greenfield, Ill., were married in St. Louis, on Thursday. The bride does not come as a stranger among us, having spent several weeks here this summer, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Woods, when the happy romance began. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. E. C. McWhorter and is one of our prosperous farmers, having recently purchased the Dr. Ramsey farm where he and his bride will go to housekeeping.

The Greenville Advocate gives the following account of the wedding: "Miss Bernice Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morse, of this city, and Harry McWhorter, of Lancaster, Ky., went to St. Louis this morning, and according to a statement by Mrs. Morse, at eleven o'clock today, they are to be married at the Methodist church in that city during the afternoon.

Their plans to be married as soon come as a big surprise to Miss Morse's friends in Greenville. It was known that the couple became engaged this summer, when she, with her mother, was visiting in Kentucky. He later visited here for several days and last Monday evening came to Greenville, as a surprise even to Miss Morse. Since that time their plans to be married during the holidays were changed, and they decided to be married at once, hence their departure to St. Louis this morning.

They expect to leave tonight for Louisville, Ky., where they will spend a short time then go to Lancaster, which is up in the blue grass country the prettiest section of the state. For the present they will make their home with his parents but he recently purchased a beautiful residence near Lancaster where they will make their home and be at home to their friends after December 1st.

Mr. McWhorter is a farmer and a dealer in blooded stock.

Miss Morse is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Morse. She is quite an accomplished musician and a very capable and pretty young lady.

HOGS WILL REMAIN HIGH.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17, 1917.

To All Federal Food Administrators: A statement has appeared in Chicago papers that the United States Food Administration has the intention of reducing the hog price to $10. This statement is absolutely untrue, and has caused a flood of inquiries to which the following is a sample of our reply:

Chicago advises absolutely untrue and do not represent opinion or proposed action of the Food Administration, which will take no steps to jeopardize live stock producers interests. All our power will be used to keep prices at which allied and governmental purchases are made, on a plane that gives an assured return of cost and profit to producers of meat animals. In our opinion the best market obtainable for the present crop of the country will be through live stock. We need increased production of beef and pork and the only way to secure this increase will be by a profit on production. Will appreciate your giving this widest publicity. Faithfully yours, Herbert Hoover.
